BRIGHT AND BLUE-TIFUL

DESIGNER AMBER WEEKLY / AMBER@CRYSTALKITCHEN.COM

This 35-year-old dark, boring, builder-grade kitchen was dated, falling apart, and closed off from the rest of the home. This family loves to cook and entertain and wanted an open kitchen with a lot of countertops, smart storage, and seating for at least 8 people. They were looking for a space that matched their fun, artistic personalities without being too bold for resale.

To achieve these goals, we took down the wall between the kitchen and the previously unused dining room. This made room for banquet seating for 8+ and an open kitchen perfect for a party.

The layout was reconfigured to accommodate a large 10-1/2-foot island that houses a wine fridge, trash pull out, microwave, large drawers and roll out shelves. A 13" deep pantry makes it easy to find everything and a floating shelf in an accent wood coordinates with their new stained table and luxury vinyl flooring.

Crystal Current cabinetry in Simply white and Nautical blue with brushed gold hardware adds a fun pop of color and the Cambria Portrush quartz countertops feature blue veins and gold flecks that tie the color story together.

A bump out into the kitchen, which houses the powder room on the backside, gave us a unique opportunity to add faux brick tile giving a nice textural element to the space.

We ended up with a kitchen that is funky in all the right ways and perfect for this young, modern family.

INTRODUCING Tori Kloss, Technical Assistant

Tori hails from the Orlando, Florida area and now resides in Dayton, MN for the past three years. She comes to us from a small cabinet shop/remodeling company. She earned her interior design degree from Madison Area Technical College (Wisconsin) and has been in the kitchen design industry for 27 years. Her background includes working in cabinet shops, retail sales and engineering projects of all sizes. She loves the technical aspect of cabinetry: practical information about construction, finishing, and the relationship between the house and cabinetry. Seeing a great fit and happy homeowners are most important to her. Tori's favorite era of kitchen interior design is midcentury.

Recently, Tori has become engaged and is planning the wedding get away in Las Vegas. She enjoys traveling, music, swing dancing with her fiancé and caring for her 2 pugs.

ARTISTIC KITCHEN

DESIGNER AMBER WEEKLEY / AMBER@CRYSTALKITCHEN.COM

This downtown St. Paul condo had been recently updated but the quality and layout were below standard. The sink was placed in the corner which made using it very frustrating and the refrigerator was tiny. The homeowner desired an open kitchen with a good layout, plenty of storage, ample countertops, and seating for entertainment. To achieve these goals, we reconfigure the kitchen into a U-shaped layout with a huge peninsula. This gave the kitchen a great work triangle that is ideal for entertaining. Open shelves were added for display and bold green paint was used on the walls.

This loft now matches the artistic vibes of the building, the personality of the homeowner, and imparts the quality this homeowner deserves so she can enjoy it for many years to come.

SERENE LUXURY MASTER BATH & DRESSING ROOM

DESIGNER MARY MANEY, CKBD, CLIPP, ASID / MARY@CRYSTALKITCHEN.COM

Having a dressing room is a luxury that we all wish we could have. Along with a make-up area, there are new cabinets that provide storage for jewelry and accessories. Marble countertops, a crystal chandelier and mirrors in a metallic finish bring luxury and style to this space.

Moving through the elegant Dressing Room, you enter the luxurious Master Bathroom. Inset cabinets, luxe plumbing fixtures and marble tiles create a lavish space to bathe and get ready in each day. By removing the drop-in tub, it allowed for a new sculptural freestanding bathtub. The new symmetrically balanced vanity provides ample storage and even has pull-out waste baskets under each sink. Faceted mirrors, graceful wall sconces and marble countertops further enhance the look of the vanity area. The addition of a crystal chandelier with glass buds that mimic the mosaic leaf pattern in the marble floor below adds sparkle to the room.

A separated shower room includes a bench seat and hooks for hanging towels & clothing. Inside the large shower are double niches for hair and body products. Mosaic marble tiles on the floor and head wall of the shower elevates the look of this space. In-floor heat and a soft color palette creates a luxurious and serene environment in which to start and end each day in.

SIMPLY BEAUTIFUL BATH

DESIGNER JENNIE HJERPE, CKBD / JENNIE@CRYSTALKITCHEN.COM

This spacious bathroom was dated and had a cold cave like shower. The homeowner desired a beautiful space with a European feel, like the ones she discovered on her travels. She also wanted a privacy door separating the bathroom from her bedroom.

We opened up the shower, removing the soffit and dark cabinet and added glass, letting light in. Now the entire room is bright and airy with faux marble porcelain tile throughout. An archway was added to frame in the undermount tub. The double vanity in a soft gray paint and topped with Corian Quartz compliments the marble tile. The new chandelier along with the chrome fixtures add just the right amount of luxury to the room. When you come in from the bedroom you are enticed to stay a while in this beautiful space.

Mary was given the First place award for Primary bathroom and best in show at the National Kitchen and Bath conference in Las Vegas on January 31, 2023
